

How To Get a Singapore Investor Visa ?

Singapore is a major financial center and strategic business hub in Southeast Asia. The city-state's strong economy, business-friendly environment, and sophisticated infrastructure make it a desirable destination for entrepreneurs and businesses worldwide. One of the Singaporean government's goals is to recruit talented individuals to the country for residence and employment. Foreign nationals are encouraged by the government to become permanent residents of Singapore.

Singapore offers the best golden visa policy in Asia, formally called the Singapore Global Investor Program (GIP). The scheme was introduced in 2004 to attract investment to Singapore. The GIP scheme grants Permanent Resident status (PR) to qualified worldwide investors who aim to build their businesses and investments in Singapore.

This guide provides essential information about getting the Singapore Investor Visa. Continue reading if you're interested in Singapore citizenship by investment, and the programs and passes to assist you with your company and personal relocation needs.

Singapore Investor Visa Schemes

There are a few Singapore Investor Visa (Also known as Singapore Golden Visa) schemes available in Singapore and the amount of investments varies would depend on the type of Singapore investor visa you select. See below for options available:

- 1 .Singapore Global Investor Program: Applicant must possess certain business track records and be willing to invest a minimum amount of 10 million SGD in Singapore.
- 2 .The Entrepass Scheme: This is a Singapore investor visa that requires the applicant to meet certain entrepreneurial track record. No minimum investment required but your proposed business in Singapore must meet the innovative criteria of the Entrepass. Read more about the Singapore entrepreneur pass scheme.

Alternatively, you may contact us at one-visa.com and explore visa schemes suitable for you.